Seville is re-known for its restaurants. Oasis has teamed up with Pancho Tours to allow travelers to maximize their dining experience during their visit to this beautiful city. Pancho Tours brings travelers together of a tour of three diverse restaurants. Along with trying all different types of tapas, new friendships are bound to develop. Our guides are knowledgeable in tapas ad wines of Spain and southern Spain in particular.

The advantage of the tapas tour is the traveler is able to try more tapas then they normally would in a normal dining situation. There will be roughly 20 different dishes presented. The restaurants are diverse as well, ranging to the modern sit down restaurant to the traditional stand and eat establishment. And the social aspect of "tapear" is the best part.

Why the tapa is called like that?

We will tell some legends about the utilization of this word to refer to food. What's about Sherry Wine? Why is doesn't have the year of the harvest written on the label?
